M. STEVENS WINS LANGDON SCHOLARSHIP

At the Parent Teachers Association, held in the Langdon School on June 29, the scholarship awarded by the association was won by Marens Stevens, for outstanding merit and proficiency in the High School, followed closely by Alfred Kuchinski, Allan Warrack, Lolly Ina Stevens a very close second in the intermediate school. Much credit is due to the teachers Mr. Vandenberg and Miss A. E. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Arthur of Langdon and Mrs. Taylor had three cousins visiting them during Stampede week. Mrs. Brown, of Portsburgh, Scotland, whom Mr. Arthur had not seen in forty years arrived from New York, where she had flown on a Pan American airplane. She is accompanied by Mrs. Sherman of Hartford, Connecticut, and Mrs. McEln, of Beale, Sask. Mr. McBain and son Bob were also present.

After taking in the Stampede in Calgary, the party intends to drive on to the Coast, and visit other relatives.

BALL CLUB AT LIONS

Members of Strathmore's Baseball Club were guests of the Lions Ball at their regular meeting on Thursday of last week. A delicious supper was served by Lions George Risdon, W. E. Springthorpe and W. Mercer.

Following the meeting, it was announced that the annual picnic would be held on August 3rd, and discussion was held as to the possibility of securing volunteer labour to assist in putting in the wading pool for kiddies. It was agreed to go ahead with building as soon as arrangements could be made.

Charles Mercer favoured the assembly with his version of "Home on the Range," to the enjoyment of those present.

A report on the recent convention at Great Falls, Montana, by W. E. Springthorpe, and rounded out by George Palardy and Andy Scott occupied the rest of the evening.

EROSION CONTROL OF SUMMER-FALLOW

Water erosion is becoming more evident year after year, and signs of gullying are often noticed first in the natural runways. Where this occurs in fields now under summerfallow, steps can be taken to check the damage right now. The natural runways in that summerfallow field may become impassable gullies if cultivation is continued.

Here's what Supervisor of Soil Conservation, H. J. Mather suggests:

1. That you seed those runways down to grass. (Be sure to flatten out the runway before seeding)

The following paper is worthy the earnest thought of all women.

It was read at the recent W.J. Conference by Mrs. Albertson.

Today our home and country challenges the womanhood of Canada to take a greater part in the responsibilities made necessary by the conditions of the world today. We are living in an age of readjustments where our economic and human relationship must be adjusted to meet the changes in methods science has forced upon us. We no longer need (as our Grandmothers did) to live within our own four walls.

Here in Canada we rarely pick up a news paper without reading where some organized group of Canadian women have contributed to some worthwhile work done for community betterment.

This is organized effort all working in co-operation and that is the challenge to the women of the world today. We must realize that unless we work together we cannot reach our goal.

If all women of the world were organized in the united front under capable leadership, could we do away with wars? For after all a Mother's heart must be much the same be she British, Canadian, American, German, Italian, or any other nationality.

We women have much to learn — We have come far since we received the right to vote and take part and position in political life. Yet how many women have we in Parliament today or in public office, and how many women always exercise their right to vote? (Women today control — Continued on Page five)

CURLING MEETING

A special meeting of the Strathmore Curling Club will be held in the dining room of the Memorial Hall on Monday evening, July 14, 1947, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of completing plans for the enlargement of the present curling rink.

All members are urged to be present.

2. That during subsequent cultivation of the field you raise the implement out of the ground when crossing the runway.

If this advice is followed, fibre will be restored, erosion checked, and the danger of a badly cut up field avoided.

Discuss your problems with your District Agriculturist, and check soil erosion in the early stages.

$35 MILLION IN ALBERTA FOR IRRIGATION

The federal government plans to spend some thirty-five millions of dollars in irrigation work in the Province of Alberta, according to returns tabled in the House of Commons early this week. This amount is expected to cover three projects under the P.E.R.A., though no time was given over which the amount is to be used.

Estimates were included at the same time for the expenditure of seventy-one millions in Saskatchewan, for the same purpose.

This follows earlier announcements that agreement had been reached provincial and federal ministers of natural resources, under which an amount well in excess of six million will be spent shortly in reforestation and conservation work on the eastern slope of the Rockies, in an effort to conserve and improve the watershed supplying these provinces.

Since the Saskatchewan Irrigation project centres around the South Saskatchewan River, it would seem likely that a good portion of the Alberta expenditure will be used to integrate with the Saskatchewan development.

JACKPOT COUNT

For those interested in figures, it may be satisfying to learn that there was a total of 3,529 coins in the Lions Jackpot, drawn for on the 1st of July. This total was made up of 2,872 copper, 365 nickels, 290 dimes, 47 quarters, and 15 half dollar pieces. The coins were counted, and wrapped, by W. E. Springthorpe before deposit to Art Sangster's credit.

Advertising a local farm for sale, the Vermont Development Commission stated: "If purchased before the next heavy windstorm, a barn is included."

Bill Woodliffe: "Will you have any thing on your face after I finish shaving you?"

Ernie Wright: "It hardly seems likely."

"Bucky" Buchner was being questioned during a charge or assault. "You saw these men fighting," said the magistrate. "Why didn't you go to the assistance of the defendant?"

"Well, sir," replied Bucky, "at that time it was impossible to foresee which would be the defendant."

Bus Garriott: "Who spilled the mustard on this waffle, dear?"

Mrs. Bus: "Oh, Cliff, how could you? This is lemon pie."

On the stroke of nine, Ray Ferguson awoke with a start. "Gosh," he groaned, "what a head I've got. I can't go to the office to-day."

He reached for the phone, and called his boss's private number.

"It's no use wrapping things up," he confessed. "Last night I was out with some pals, and I'm ashamed to say I overdid it. I wonder if I could take the day off today, sir?"

"Well," came Mr. Sauder's voice over the phone, "I admire your candor; Ferguson, and I shall expect you at nine tomorrow. As for the day off, it's yours. Today is Sunday."

A Want Ad in the Standard will dispose of that article for which you have no further use.

Florence Slater: (inspecting new home): "How many closets are there, dear?"

Sam: "I've counted five."

Florence: "That isn't enough. You'll want one for your things, won't you?"

It is really amazing what delightful dishes can be made from practically nothing but left overs. Just the other day we heard that Alice Downey made a delicious pudding out of an old cookbook she was going to throw away.

Says George Snaith: Many an argument is sound, . . . mostly.

A Local Nursing Home

One of the latest obvious needs for some years past in Strathmore has been that of a local nursing home. Events of the past few days, repeatedly showing that same need, only served to re-emphasize the lesson pointed out a point of years.

There has never been a suggestion that it be a hospital, or that it be equipped as such. Certainly there is not room nor patronage for an institution of that sort.

But more especially with the present acute shortage of bed space in the Calgary hospitals, a shortage which palpably cannot be reduced for some time yet to come, more especially could a nursing home in town serve a highly important function.

Whether such a building were established as a War Memorial, or as a commercial venture, private or public, now is a good time to investigate the possibilities. There are buildings available for such a purpose. There is the public interest. There is the opportunity.

Floods: Full Circle

The Northwest still measures the severity of its winters by the blizzard of '88," says the Christian Science Monitor editorially, and it goes on to state: "Old-timers along the upper Mississippi and Missouri rivers have long gauged their high-water marks against the almost legendary great flood of 1844. Now, after 103 years, that awesome crest has been matched so nearly that the margin is inconsequential.

This is not the kind of occurrence that can be shrugged off with an "Interesting, if true." With all its knowledge and inventions, modern civilization still can't do anything about such phenomena as blizzards except to foresee them a few hours and minimize their effects. But the America of today does possess the know-how to do something toward actually preventing floods. Yet after more than a century of increasingly destructive deluges comes the mate to the daddy of them all.

This year has shown the same tremendous damage and loss in Canada as it has in the United States. Floods are currently wreaking havoc in central and eastern Canada, and earlier this season, Alberta suffered fearsome flooding at Red Deer. The southern part of the province is also quite used to floods.

It isn't that nothing is being done about floods. Engineers have pushed out a network of dams far up the rivers.

But those who know the problem question whether even this program goes far enough. For real prevention of floods must begin with control of the rain water itself from the moment it strikes the ground. It must deal in terms of reforestation, ground covers, and gully checking, as well as with impounding and channelling the swollen waters of stream.

The suggestion made recently in the House of Commons that a sum of twenty millions of dollars be appropriated annually for ten years for irrigation purposes would find strong support in a venture of this kind. Control of these waters would prove a tremendous boon to irrigation, supplying almost limitless quantities of water to the distributing ditches, and at the same time eliminating one of the worst hazards of this country. . . . of that of torrential run-offs, carrying with them millions of dollars in potential protection.

The old saw points out that an

If Shakespeare had written it for Broadway, he might have said: The evil that men do gets the headlines, the good gets an inch or two somewhere on the inside pages.

So it seemed like better news than we sometimes see on page one when we run across that report from Chicago in Editor and Publisher.

The executive editor of the Chicago Sun had been receiving letters from readers who wanted to know why the front pages of newspapers seem so full of nothing but trouble. "Why doesn't an editor sometimes put a pleasant story on page one?" they asked.

Well, we know an editor or two who does or do. But the Chicago Sun man thought about that query. The result is a new page-one feature for the Chicago Sun—"Stories to Make the Heart Glad." The reasoning which led to this feature is worth restating in the Sun man's own words: The feature he said is "designed to prove to ourselves and our readers that all is not evil, that in this great world of ours there are people who are without selfishness."

A newspaper feature with such purpose behind it makes a story in itself—a story which, we trust, will make its readers' hearts at least a little bit gladder day by day.

ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Both the pound and the ounce can be secured in this measure, preventing floods as it controls the cause of them.

RATS!

Word has been received twice this year of rats being seen in Alberta cities, the latter one running across Centre Street in Calgary in front of a taxi.

Every year the warning sounds a little louder. . . watch out for the rats. So far, Alberta has had no rat scourge. But they are getting closer to Alberta's borders each year, on each side. It is reported that they come about thirty miles closer to the Hat each year, and a little less through the mountains.

Bubonic plague is the most dreaded reason fearing this invasion, but there are many other reasons to worry about them. Anyone noticing rats should immediately report them, and any action possible to eliminate their progress would be well worth taking. If we can stay free of rats, we'd be happier.

BUSINESS

One of the small but important things that helps a man succeed is the ability to remember names.

When you call a man by his name you show an interest that strikes a responsive spark. He feels that he has registered with you and that, in your opinion, he is important. And it tends to stamp you as observant, alert and on the job.

The value of this habit in dealing with customers and people in higher positions is obvious. In fact, the principle can and should be applied to everyone we meet.

There is an almost magical difference in the effect of "Good morning!" and "Good morning, Mr. Ferris!"

SUMMER-FALLOW METHODS

Moisture conservation is the most important season for summer-fallowing. To minimise any loss of moisture weeds must be controlled and all work done at the proper time. On the Dominion Experimental Farm at Indian Head and the sub-stations the aim is to complete the first operation in May and at the latest in early June. Any delay results in a definite lowering of the moisture conserved and a reduction in the yield of grain the following year. The one-way disk or the disk is used for the first operation. By finishing this work early the first crop of weeds will be killed before the rains in June, hence excessive growth, resulting from the inability to work on the land, will be prevented. If the combine stubble is heavy a second operation with the one-way may be necessary but if the cultivator can be used it is preferable. The following operations should be done with the cultivator or an implement that will not chop and bury the stubble. Most weed seeds, particularly annuals, germinate best when near the surface, wild oats when covered with about one and one-half inches of soil. For annual weed eradication shallow cultivation is essential.

During the past few years a heavy growth of volunteer grain has been noted on many summer-fallow fields in the fall. The last operation before harvest shall be planned so that most volunteer grain is destroyed about that time. If this is not possible and the fields have a very heavy cover in the early fall they should be cultivated. If this growth is not excessive and is left it will act as a natural cover crop and aid in the control of winter or early spring soil drifting.

"NOW WATCH ME WIN THAT RIBBON!"

SANDY SIMPSON has been patiently improving his dairy herd. He saw his chance to buy a pure bred bull — and the manager of his bank lent him the ready cash to close the deal. Now he's expecting great things of his new calf; already he sees her winning her class at next year's Fall Fair. A few more like her and he can also see his milk production rising — as well as a nice extra income from selling his surplus stock to neighbouring farmers.

Branch banks, in rural communities across Canada, help to build prosperous farms . . . and at the same time help increase the flow of food to family tables both at home and in distant lands.

of how Canada's 3,200 branch banks play their part in the daily life and work of Canadians.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD

52% of the votes in Canada) We must learn to stand together for United we stand divided we fall) and as one speaker once said, "Remember the banana, once it leaves the bunch it gets shinned."

Have we accepted the challenge left us by such women as Mrs. Frank Hurst, who worked diligently and fearlessly to gain the franchise for women. She had the vision and the urge to keep on under trying conditions and to speak fearlessly for her cause.

Let us keep abreast with the times by reading good lectures and habitual use of the dictionary. We must choose magazines and books of the best for the human mind, might be likened to a garden. The richer the soil the greater the growth, the growth depending on the planting, whether it shall be weeds, or something useful, books are the seeds.

Let us seek every possible outlet for every one of our talents. I am sure there are many more such outlets than we realize. We must hold fast to our aspirations and visions they have a miscellaneous approach. The Ja have a miraculous way of coming true.

We must do some serious thinking and reading if we are to arrive at constructive ideas.

What are we doing to prepare ourselves, to assist intelligently in post war conditions.

Our Democratic ideas must be the basis of the New Structure in the post war period. We all admit that changes must be made, but these must be carefully studied.

The challenge for us to face is the need for greater unity for loyalty to Christian ideals, that will bind the women of the world together in promoting greater understanding and toleration in an everlasting peace.

LET'S BUILD A STABLE FUTURE FOR OUR YOUTH!

George Hecht, Publisher of Parents' Magazine, has this to say:

"About one child in every 20 born each year will spend some time in a mental hospital—yet there are countless areas without a single child guidance clinic, and thousands of communities have no program for the early detection and treatment of mental disorders in children.

"There are ten million children with defects in vision, including 15,000 totally blind and 50,000 with only partial vision—and yet services which could prevent such blindness do not reach these children.

"To this end list could be added the 175,000 children with active tuberculosis, one million with hearing defects, 500,000 with orthopedic and plastic defects, thousands with cerebral palsy, thousands with epilepsy, and many, many others.

"These are not mere statistics. They are children. They add up to the story of a great (North) American tragedy."

WITHIN the very near future, North America will be faced with the most serious crisis in her entire history. There is only one answer to the social dilemma facing the peoples of this Continent—there is only one organization that is advocating Social Change and the application of the methods of Science to the operation of our Social Mechanism.

YOU, too, have a part to play in the building of a NEW NORTH AMERICA. Be sure to hear TECTONIC'S Public Lecture in the STRATHMORE MEMORIAL HALL, on Tuesday, July 15 at 8:45 p.m. (D.S.T.)!

FARMING NEWSProduced by the Alberta
Department of AgricultureMODERN HAYING EQUIPMENT

It is definitely known that there are more minerals and vitamins in green coloured, well-cured hay than in weathered fodder that has lost its colour. It is therefore important that hay be cured in such a way that as much as possible of the rich green colour is retained. This is particularly applicable in areas where the grazing season is of relatively short duration, says the Dominion Experimental Station, Melfort, Sask.

If hay is to be put up in the desired condition it must not be left too long in the swath where the sun will bleach the colour out. Furthermore, when it season, is sufficiently well cured to store, it must be done quickly lest a rain storm comes. Fortunately during recent years, stacking equipment has been developed that enables the farmer to put the hay up quickly with a comparatively small gang of men and with little heavy work.

There are a considerable number of different makes of stackers that can be attached in front of the tractor. With them up to about half a ton can be gathered, brought in and raised over 20 feet and dumped. Other methods are being used in drier parts of the Prairies with considerable success, but so far have not been tried out extensively in North-Eastern Saskatchewan where rain showers are more frequent during the haying season.

A. F. A. Recommends Harvest Wage Scale

Always a question mark to farmer and labourer at harvest time is the amount of the going wage. In an effort to try to establish a satisfactory basis for both the Alberta Federation of Agriculture at a recent Board of Director's meeting agreed that a fair basis would be $5.50 for stocking and $6.50 for threshing, based on a ten-hour day, plus board. This is, of course, only a recommendation, but they feel it will help as a starting basis.

It is sensible to buy or sell used articles. The cost of classified advertising is small, but the results are big.

99% WEED KILL! 1½ GALS. WATER AN ACRE! Using 2, 4-D with Spray Boom

Extensive experiments last spring in California, conducted by National Grain Company's own research department, have disclosed revolutionary methods of killing mustard and other weeds with 2,4-D, using as little as 1½ gallons of water an acre. Nozzles for low volume or fog application are not yet available in quantities. This work is part of a continuing program of research and development on the part of National Grain Company aimed at increasing farmers' income.

Again spray boom application of 2, 4-D chemical weed killer is proved superior. To the many advantages of this method, now add the tremendous advantage of using far less water. Spray boom application is—

CHEAPER, SAFER, MORE UNIFORM

Spray boom application of 2, 4-D makes uniform application possible—avoids the risk of reduced yields from uneven application—saves time, work, money and WATER.

SAME RIG SPRAYS SINOX AND 2, 4-D
Sincox, first successful liquid weed killer—introduced in Western Canada by National Grain Company in 1944, and 2, 4-D can both be applied by same rig, using interchangeable nozzles. Use Sincox on wheat, coarse grains and flax where water is not a problem. Use 2, 4-D only on grain.
